

A STYLE LOVE STORY: OUR ODE TO 90s MINIMALISM

FEB 19, 2026

Consider this our gentle homage to 90s minimalism. Channeling the decade of uncomplicated cool is all about simplifying your 'fit and creating a no-fuss capsule wardrobe that can take you anywhere.

What's chicer than simplicity, you ask? Nothing. A look characterized by the beauty of its outline is one that's unmatched and perfectly suited for any decade. Here, the five pieces you need below to minimize your look (and maximize your wardrobe).

In the world of less-is-more style, statements are made in silhouettes. Defined tailoring makes simplicity seem striking as ever (and what's more striking than a sleek, streamlined LBD?).

The Jayne Crop

Nothing quite equates to the feeling of putting on the perfect pair of pants (read: equal parts timeless and flattering). The Jayne Crop is fitted just right, with a slightly higher hem for the ultimate 90s feel.

The Refined Trench Coat

Softly structured and always in style — the trench is the piece to finish any (and every) look with a sharp outline. The go-to for in-between temps, it adds an air of polished intention to whatever you're wearing.

The Horsebit Midi

If "minimalism" had a signature silhouette, the column would for sure be it. The shape's unbridled ease adds the perfect hint of definition. Our suggested style? The Horsebit Denim Midi. The denim fabric effortlessly sculpts the body, while the refined detail nods to country club couture.

The Perfect Shirt

An essential to a 90s minimalist look is none other than a white button-down. Clean, crisp and ever-so-versatile — this style is a closet mainstay. It can be dressed up or down, left open or closed, and truly worn with anything.

Finishing Touches

Although minimalism is, in theory, not defined by dramatic accessories, we never want to pass up an opportunity to accessorize. Take your uncomplicated look up a notch with polished pieces like a sleek headband, understated sunglasses and a simple hair accessory. Add a pair of black slingbacks and a crisp do-it-all bag — and you're out the door.
